

RODEO TO START OFF WITH GALA PARADE AT 8 A. M. MONDAY

Days of the Cowboy to Be Reproduced at Lorin Farr Park for Three Days; "Hurricane of Action" Promised By Show Producers

By FLOYD A. TIMMERMAN.

"Whoop'er up!" "Let 'er buck!" "Ride 'im cowboy!"

Could these three yells, which have swept the plains of the west for years, fail to find response in the heart of the true westerner? These will be the predominating notes of Ogden's second annual wild west show, which opens at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Lorin Farr park field for three days, with the west's best bucking broncos, the world's foremost riders and ropers, relay riders, marksmen, steer bulldozers, fancy riders and clowns.

The west of the days of '49 will be set before the eyes of thousands with action claiming every moment of the program and interest at white heat from the announced "grand entry and introduction of some of the world's celebrated riders and ropers" until 11 hair-raising events have produced thrills, cleverness and comedy.

Can anyone afford to miss it?

PROMISE MORE ACTION. More action than last year is the promise given by P. A. Dix, E. M. Fox, J. S. Croft and Ora Bundy, organizers and promoters of the rodeo. This means, they said, that the show will be of even higher quality and the programs daily will be condensed and arranged so that there will be no waits, no pauses for interest to lag and the show will not drag in any detail. They promise a hurricane of speed and action, condensed so that the daily programs will be completed by 5 o'clock each evening.

An examination of the program shows the great treats in store for lovers of western sport. Opening with trick and fancy riding, the show will continue with bareback riding with circle, calf roping, cowboy's relay race, cowboy's championship bucking contest, cowboy's quarter-mile pony race, cowboy's bucking contest, children's shetland pony race, steer riding, cowboy's quarter-mile pony race, bulldogging contest, fancy shooting by G. L. Becker, bulldogging steer from automobile, cowboy's relay race, wild horse race, bandbox or night shirt race, and clown antics.

CRACK RIDERS. In addition to many well-known riders who have arrived in Ogden during the last three days, "Prairie" Ross, Henderson former woman bucking horse rider at Cheyenne, Wyo., and her husband, George Judd, another famous rider, reached the city last night and announced to the other riders, whom they have met in many western rodeos, that they had best prepare for hot competition for the valuable prizes in both bucking contests.

Not only will the nationally known riders be seen in action during the three days of fun, but Utah will be represented as well on the field of action. Miss Nettie Baker, of Ogden, known on the program last year as "Miss Ogden," will participate in the women's bucking horse contest and in the relay and other races. Miss Zeldia Hatch of Rex, who displayed unusual nerve and cleverness last year in riding, will also again make her bow to the public.

One of the features of the daily programs will be marksmanship exhibitions by G. L. Becker of Ogden, one of the world's best rifle shots. His exhibitions will include chime playing, fancy rifle shooting, from standing position and from a speeding automobile at small clay balls which will be thrown in the air. Mayor Frank Francis will throw the first ball for Mr. Becker.

COMEDY PROVIDED. To furnish the comedy for the programs the entire west has been combed by the show officials. They finally selected from a large field of performers, a comedian from Bozeman, Mont., who notified Mr. Bundy last night that he was on his way west with his trained animals. He is also an experienced fancy rider and will take part in the Roman races each afternoon.

Colonel P. A. Dix, president of the rodeo, announced last night that the animals to be used in the event have arrived and are in pens at the Lorin Farr field. During this afternoon some of the stock will be given a try-out in order that the best may be selected for the programs. Riders and their equipment are all here, and in fact, every detail is now complete to open the program at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon as scheduled.

TO HOLD TRAINS. Special trains from many Utah towns will be held in Ogden and bring hundreds of visitors. Excursion rates have been granted on steam and electric lines from all points. Announcement has been made that trains for Huntsville and Plain city will leave Ogden at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon in order to allow visitors to witness the entire program.

Not only will the rodeo be the attraction of Ogden Monday, but the trades and labor assembly has planned a large street parade and is co-operating with the show committee to make the entire day one of intense interest.

Six divisions will participate in the parade which will move forward at 10 o'clock from Twenty-sixth street and Washington avenue. G. L. Becker of Ogden has been chosen as parade marshal and will head the line of floats and marchers, cowboys and decorated automobiles.

TRAFFIC REGULATIONS. Special traffic regulations to be in force during the parade have been issued by Chief of Police Curtis Allison. The order instructs the officers to suspend all traffic and prevent the parking of automobiles along the line of march as follows: East side of Washington avenue, between Twenty-second and Twenty-sixth streets; north side of Twenty-fourth street, between Washington and Main avenues; south side of Twenty-fifth street, between Wall and Washington avenues.

PARADE INSTRUCTIONS. Complete details for the parade, containing instructions to the participants, are issued by Marshal Becker, as follows:

Division marshals have been assigned to the following divisions: Division one which forms east on Twenty-sixth at Washington, A. E. Rogers, B. M. Fox.

Division two which forms west on Twenty-sixth at Washington, Leonard Wright.

All division marshals, however, are likewise requested to meet the grand marshal at 9 o'clock on the corner of Twenty-sixth and Washington before assembling at their own division points as above.

Division three will consist of the retail and wholesale merchants' floats.

Division four will consist of the fraternal orders. In this division are such orders as have floats, likewise all other fraternal organizations.

The line of march will be from Twenty-sixth north on Washington to Twenty-second, from Twenty-second to Twenty-fourth on the west side of Washington; from Twenty-fourth to Wall on the north side of Twenty-fourth; from Wall to Twenty-fifth on the west side of Wall; from Twenty-fifth to Washington on the south side of Twenty-fifth and south on Washington to Twenty-sixth street, the place of beginning to disband.

MAKING PLANS FOR CONVENTION

Tri-State Mutuals to Meet at Weber College Sept. 17

Extensive plans for the Mutual convention of the Ogden, Mount Ogden and Weber stakes are being made. September 17 has been designated as the date of the convention. Members of the Mutual Improvement Association general board will meet with the stake workers at Weber college for a three-session convention.

The purpose of the convention is to start the season of mutual improvement work with a complete corps of officers and class instructors; to have a uniform schedule of work; to have all workers enthused with the ideas and purposes of the work; and to make possible the greatest success attained thus far.

100 per cent attendance of all officers and teachers will be required to make a 100 per cent organization. The first meeting will convene at 9 a. m. in the assembly room of the college, Sept. 17, and continue throughout the day. Departmental sessions will be held, and each department will have a member of the general board in charge, as well as the local workers.

The general committee in charge consists of D. W. Henderson, B. A. Fowler, Leon Vinnor, Gladys Harbertson, Nellie Hendricks and Mary Wilson of Mount Ogden stake; Aaron Tracy, R. T. Mitchell, James Thomas, Maude West, Lila Robinson and Mrs. J. D. Harding of Ogden stake; Hyrum Belnap, George Shorten, John Ira Davis, Alice Mack, Zella Ballinger and Thirza Parker of Weber stake. Besides these men and women several committees selected from the stake board members to attend the three stakes will be engaged in planning for membership, attendance, program, refreshments and the various phases of the convention work. An unusual large attendance is expected, as there is keen rivalry between the workers of the various stakes.

He declared that a tuberculosis survey is needed here, as indicated by the prevalent opinion among the laity and many physicians that Utah is free from tuberculosis and also free from any danger of infection because of the sparsely settled territory and the climate. The surveys ending June 30 in 51 towns and in 19 of the 23 counties of the state, for the most part agricultural in character, show a larger proportion of those examined who were native Utahns having the disease than those born outside the state.

Dr. Harlow Brooks of New York City in discussing angina pectoris, a neurogia of the heart before the convention declared that the disease is found most frequently among the so-called intellectual classes or those who occupy positions of emotional rather than physical strain.
